PRESS RELEASE

Announcement of College-Program Preference Count Window

In order to continue with the persistent efforts to help the candidates desirous of seeking admission in the University of Delhi, the University has added another important feature on the Dashboard of the Candidates as well as on the admission website of the University: <https://ugadmission.uod.ac.in/index.php/site/preference>, in the form of a new tab “College-Program wise Preference Count”.

The candidates can now view the number of candidates who have opted for a particular Program in a College. This count is being updated on two hourly basis to help the candidates get a real-time instantaneous data / information of the Programs and College preferences that the candidates are opting. Candidates are advised to keep referring to this window and make informed choices as per their preferences.

It has also been observed that a few candidates are not adequately optimising the provisions of available preferences offered to them by the University. While providing their preferences, the candidates are opting for far less number of choices despite being eligible for many such choices. For example, if a candidate has been provided with 1469 Program plus College preferences by the University, he / she must select all the combinations to benefit maximally from the allocation rounds.

Candidates are advised to select maximum number of Program plus College combinations to facilitate their probability of getting allocations as per the CSAS rules.

It must be noted that the Phase I and Phase II of Common Seal Allocation System (CSAS) will auto-lock the preferences saved by the candidate on Wednesday October 10, 2022 at 04:59 p.m.
